To whom it may concern:

The Measured by Character Assembly visited our school September 23, 2015. The program brought personal stories presented by Wade White about how a family tragedy has changed their lives. Through this tragedy he speaks to students to encourage good choices, personal accountability, and kindness to others.

He connected with students on a very personal level and had their attention to entire time. A lot of emotions were touched that day and has since led to some awesome leadership opportunities for students on our campus. Our students gained insight into leaving a legacy behind that is meaningful and helpful to others.

Our students were challenged to commit random acts of kindness and to notice when others do so. Through this program, we are watching our students make a commitment to changing their priorities, focusing on kindness and reaching out to others in need. It is our hope that our students will continue to use the ideas shared by Wade to make this campus and world a better place.
